CITY OF KINGSTON, N. Y., FRIDAY EVENING, JULY 28, 1916.

PRICE TWO CENTS.

ALL CHILDREN BARRED FROM KINGSTON CITY

None May Enter the City to Remain

Even for a Call—Entrances to City to be Guarded by Police—New Paralysis Case on St. James Street.

All children under sixteen years of age will be barred from the city, and a resolution to that effect was unanimously adopted by the sanitary committee of the board of health at a special meeting held on Thursday afternoon at the city hall. In order that the ordinance may be rigidly enforced the police board will co-operate with the health board, and at a special meeting of the police board held on the West Shore train while the police chiefs' convention was on its way to West Point Thursday afternoon Chief J. Allan Wood was authorized to appoint fifteen special policemen who will be stationed at all of the entrances to the city to turn back any children under sixteen years of age.

The action taken by the health board and the police board is to prevent the spread of infantile paralysis in Kingston.

There are now two cases of infantile paralysis in Kingston, and both are on St. James street. Neither case is considered serious.

The Ordinance.

The special meeting of the sanitary committee, to which committee had been referred all matters pertaining to preventing an outbreak of infantile paralysis, was held at the city hall and was attended by Mayor Canfield, Commissioners McBride, Norwood and Hulse, and Dr. Johnston and Dr. Clarke.

The following ordinance was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, that whereas the citizens of Kingston have been operated with the board of health in the reporting of all children under or apparently under the age of sixteen years who were not residents of Kingston as was required by previous ordinance.

And whereas the danger of the spread of infantile paralysis is daily becoming greater;

Therefore be it resolved and ordained:

That all entrances to the city, both by road and common carrier, shall be guarded by special police; and

That all non-residents under and apparently under sixteen years of age shall be and are hereby prohibited from entering into the city of Kingston except for the purpose of passing through the city and

That children under and apparently under the age of sixteen years passing through the city shall be and are hereby prohibited from leaving any vehicle.

Be it further resolved, that any head of a private household, or the proprietor, or keeper, of any hotel, boarding house or lodging house, harboring any child under or apparently under the age of sixteen years, without orders from the board of health, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be punished by a fine not exceeding fifty dollars or imprisonment for one year, or by both.

Be it resolved, that all excursions, picnics or parties, prohibited from entering the city of Kingston.

That it be resolved, that the health officer shall wire each railroad and other common carrier entering the city of Kingston, notifying them of the action taken by the sanitary committee.

Kingston, N. Y., July 27, 1916.

Letter to Physicians.

Dr. Frank A. Johnston, the health officer, has written a letter to each of the local physicians. The letter is self-explanatory, and reads as follows:

In view of the rapid spread and insidious onset of infantile paralysis, will you place under quarantine regulations all children under sixteen years of age who have such symptoms as sore throat, diarrhoea, summer complaint, intestinal trouble, headache, pains in head or limbs accompanied by fever. And also please notify this office immediately of any children coming under your observation, who are not natives of Kingston.

Respectfully yours,

FRANK A. JOHNSTON,

Health Officer.

One More Case Reported.

Late Thursday afternoon another new case of infantile paralysis was reported to Dr. Johnston. The latest case is that of Marie Chazanow, of 622 East 164th street, Bronx, New York city, who is stopping in the house in the rear of No. 152 St. James street.

This case was reported a short time ago to Dr. Johnston as a suspected case and has been closely watched and all precautions taken in the event that it developed into infantile paralysis.

All Suspects Quarantined.

Since the outbreak of infantile paralysis Dr. Johnston is working on the theory that all suspected cases reported are infantile paralysis until it is proven otherwise and is taking the proper precautions until it is determined whether the patient is ill of the disease or of another ailment. This was done in the latest case to be reported.

Only Two Cases in City.

The Chazanow case and that of Pauline Barlowe at No. 139 St. James street, are the only two cases of infantile paralysis existing up to noon today in Kingston.

Barlowe Case May Be Sent Home.

Dr. Johnston has received notice from New York city that if it is desired the Barlowe case may be taken to New York city in a private conveyance and cared for at a hospital there.

Just what action will be taken was not known up to noon today.

How Residents May Help.

Every resident in the city may assist the health board in fighting the disease by keeping their children in their own yards away from other children for the next two weeks.

By thus isolating all children in their own premises it would be easily possible to wipe out the spread of the disease in Kingston.

The Quarantine Squad.

This morning twenty-five applicants for positions on the quarantine squad appeared at the city hall seeking a job as special policeman.

Chief Wood took the applications up with Health Officer Johnston and it was expected that appointments would be announced later in the day.

The quarantine squad will consist of fifteen special policemen and it will be their duty to guard every entrance to the city and turn back all parties having with them children under sixteen years of age.

Policeman Fout in Charge.

Policeman Fout will have charge of the quarantine squad, and they will be under the supervision of Chief Wood and Health Officer Johnston.

Wanted to Dump Cases on City.

Thursday afternoon an automobile party from a Hebrew boarding house near Ellenville drove into Kingston with two children having infantile paralysis. The children were accompanied by their parents, and inquired the way to Dr. Johnston's residence.

When they reached the residence the parents and the two children alighted and proceeded to the porch of the health officer's residence, with the evident intention of having him take care of the cases.

It did not take Dr. Johnston long, however, to have the parents and the two children bundled into an automobile and escorted to the city line and sent back to the boarding house.

Ellenville Notified.

After seeing them safely out of the town Dr. Johnston called up Dr. Rapp, the health officer of the town of Wawarsing, and informed him that the two cases of infantile paralysis were on their way to Ellenville, so that he could take proper precautions.

Second Time This Has Happened.

This is the second time that a family with a sick child has been turned out of a boarding house. It was only a week ago when a woman with a sick baby drove into Kingston and applied to Dr. Johnston, stating when her baby was taken ill the proprietor had ordered her out. That case, however, was not infantile paralysis as Dr. Johnston found after he had examined the child, and the mother and child were sent back to the boarding house from whence they came.

FIELD DAY AT CAIRO.

Other events will be a peg race, athletic events, sack race, 100 yard dash, a tug of war between prominent hotels, and an automobile parade, for which a handsome loving cup will be given for the best trimmed automobile. It will be an event well worth going to see.

Miss Longyear East Again.

The many friends and pupils of Miss Maria Longyear, of Streeter, North Dakota, formerly of Phenicia, will welcome another visit from her this year. She arrived in Kingston on Tuesday night and is visiting Mrs. James H. Shurtler, of West Chester street.

Miss Longyear served the schools of Ulster county for the long period of thirty-seven years, thirty of which were spent in the schools at Phenicia, public and private. A few years ago on one of her visits the school at Phenicia gave public exercises in her honor, several former pupils of two generations speaking her worth as a teacher. At this time Miss Longyear, by request of the principal of the school, then C. E. C. Longyear, a former pupil and second cousin, gave a history of Phenicia in an interesting and able manner.

Miss Longyear is reaching an advanced age but in all these years has changed but little and is remarkably gifted in recalling the past and enjoying the present.

DEUTSCHLAND ASKS FOR PILOT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

Baltimore, Md., July 28.—The German super-submarine Deutschland today requested the Maryland Pilots' Association to hold a pilot in readiness to take the submarine down Chesapeake Bay to the Cape.

The pilot will be ready to go aboard the Deutschland at a few minutes' notice. One of the Pilots' Association said today that they were prepared to put a pilot on the German ship whenever "he" was needed, although they refuse to discuss the Deutschland's request that a man be held for the purpose of guiding the submarine on her dash to the open sea.

Three Will be Appointed From This County by Senator and Assemblymen to go to Peekskill Camp.

Appointment of state training camp cadets will be made some time next week by Senator Charles W. Walton and the two assemblymen from Ulster county, each of these officials to name three boys, one cadet and two alternates, and from these nine candidates three will be designated to attend the training camp at Peekskill for a period of two weeks, beginning August 17th.

Senator Walton, who is in hearty sympathy with this measure and the physical training of American youth, hopes that there will be a number of applicants from which to make a selection.

Under the laws of 1916, by which the State Military Training Commission was created, provision was made for this camp and the date August 17-31, together with the site at Peekskill have just been announced by that body, which recently organized at Albany. The state health department has approved of the site selected.

Only 200 boys will be admitted, the ratio being one to each assembly and senatorial district. Instructional courses will be provided for a limited number of teachers who will also be accommodated at the camp. It is planned to make this first camp a model demonstration of the value of training camps and recognized leadership will be as essential to appointment as well as physical fitness. The boys must be between the ages of 16 and 18 years.

Each boy must provide his own uniform but the expenses of camp life and transportation will be met by the commission from the funds made available by the legislature. All of the senators and assemblymen have been asked to make their appointments not later than August 1, hence, boys desirous of taking the course are urged to send in their names.

Examinations of the boys picked for the camp is desired to be made at the headquarters of the Depot Guard at the state armory.

The outfits required by each boy will cost $16, which includes the cost of uniform, including shirt, two pairs of breeches, hat, leggings and russet leather shoes.

The State Military Training Commission is composed of Commissioners: John F. O'Ryan, major general commanding the National Guard, ex-officio; John H. Finley, commissioner of education; George J. Fisher, M. D., Secretary Physical Department International Committee of the Young Men's Christian Association.

No Cases Before Recorder Lang.

Thursday and today were quiet days in recorder's court as the police made no arrests. The police chiefs in convention here Wednesday and Thursday and the infantile paralysis situation may have had something to do with keeping the police docket clear.

SPEED TRAP JAWS FAILED TO HOLD

"Sunshine" Was Going 34 Miles an Hour on the Ashokan Boulevard

But Jury Decided He Was Not Endangering Life.

Attorney John W. Eckert pried open the jaws of the "speed trap" of the city of New York on the Ashokan boulevard Wednesday night and released his friend, James B. Dealy, better known as "Sunshine," who was arrested on Saturday by the board of water supply police for operating an automobile at a rate of speed alleged to be dangerous.

Mr. Dealy was charged before Justice Buswell and a jury and acquitted, an important construction on a provision of the state law in favor of motorists being one of the outcomes of the case.

Mr. Dealy, with whom Mr. Eckert was residing at the time of his arrest, was charged with the violation of section 287 of the Highway Law in operating an automobile at an excessive rate of speed, endangering property and the life and limb of other persons, and operating faster than a reasonable rate, or 30 miles an hour.

The "speed trap" in question is located on the boulevard alongside of Temple's Pond and scores of motorists are rounded up weekly and fined on complaint of the water supply police.

When arraigned Saturday Mr. Dealy upon the advice of Mr. Eckert determined to make it a test case and fight it out. A jury trial was set down for Wednesday night, the case being entitled Thomas Kerin and the Board of Water Supply against James B. Dealy. Attorney William H. Grogan, special counsel for New York city, conducted the prosecution.

The exact meaning of the law came up for determination as the prosecution claimed that two offenses had been committed, namely, the endangering of life and limb and property as well as of running at an unreasonable rate of speed.

Mr. Eckert contended that circumstances must govern in this case as the defendant was not operating his car in a manner endangering life and limb as the section in question is a straight stretch of highway, without any cross roads and that there were no other vehicles in sight at the time. That was the question for the jury, he claimed, rather than any question of the actual rate of speed which he asserted was not meant to apply in such cases by the law as shown by the use of the word "reasonable" therein.

In his summing up counsel for the defense referred to the number of cases of this kind brought in the township and pointed to the fact that the recoveries of fines were paid over to the state but that the town had to stand the expense of the proceeding, about $1.30 in each case. There were more than 300 cases tried in the town of Olive last year.

The jury returned a verdict for the defendant.

Automobilists of this city and vicinity are familiar with the boulevard "speed traps" and the Dealy case will be of considerable interest. The evidence of the police was that the car was traveling at the rate of 34 miles an hour. Mr. Dealy is well known here being a salesman for the Loose-Wiles Company, bakers. This is the first test case made hereabouts, it is said, on this question of the law, and hence, a wide degree of interest will be taken in the acquittal.

Rev. Atkinson's Last Sunday.

The large number of people who have listened to the forceful and inspiring sermons preached by the Rev. Mr. Atkinson of New York city at St. John's Episcopal Church, this city, during the past six weeks will be interested as well as sorry to learn that the church being closed for the month of August, Sunday will be the last opportunity of hearing this remarkable preacher for some time to come. It is expected that there will be large congregations both at the morning service and in the evening especially, when many of the other churches will be closed.

CHICKEN TRAIL LEADS TO KINGSTON

The trail of the Woodstock chicken-house thieves today led to Kingston where this morning Sheriff Shultis arrested Ben Gerlach, an employee of a local brewing company, on a charge of criminally receiving stolen property, in this instance a lot of 26 chickens stolen from the poultry yards of Superintendent of Water Works John H. Harrison. The sheriff brought in Gerlach about 9 o'clock and the man was arraigned before Recorder Lang this afternoon.

This arrest is the fourth this week following the sheriff's determined effort to break up an apparently well-organized gang alleged to be responsible for the numerous depredations which have occurred in this vicinity for several years past.

Cornelius Kraus, arrested Monday night for the theft of the poultry in question, was held to wait grand jury action by Justice of the Peace Shultis at Woodstock on Wednesday and on Thursday afternoon, Orby Purdy and Lewis Harrison, arrested near East Windham, pleaded not guilty and similar disposition was made of their cases. All three are now in jail although efforts have been made to provide bail for them.

Gerlach's arrest is said to be made upon information furnished by the three men under arrest. These men seem to be most frank in discussing the burglaries credited to them and one of them remarked before the justice of the peace: "What's the use of pleading not guilty, they've got the goods on us?"

Gerlach, when questioned by the authorities, is said to have told of the receipt of the fowls from the trio under arrest but that it was greatly against his will, the chickens being thrown into the woodshed of his home in Hiramsville. Thereafter, he said he took the booty and threw it into the Esopus creek where the raw material for many chicken dinners went as food for the fish.

The accused man also denied any connection with the thefts, saying that he had refused an invitation to join the men in their proposed raid on the Harrison poultry plant.

COOLER WEATHER LOWERS DEATH RATE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 28.—A slight decrease in infantile paralysis cases was noted in the 24 hours ending at 10 a. m. today but it was not sufficient to lead the authorities to assert that the epidemic had been broken. The weather is cooler today, however, and the health officials believe this will aid them in their fight against the disease.

Today's figures record 134 new cases and 35 deaths, as against 151 cases and 31 deaths yesterday. The total of cases is 5,545 and deaths 745.

Fatal Case in Poughkeepsie.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., July 28.—Virginia Brown, six years old, died of paralysis early this morning. It was the second death in this family. One hour after death was reported a third case was reported in the family.

ANOTHER DEATH AT WEST PARK

Another death from infantile paralysis in West Park has been reported to Dr. J. A. Decker of Port Ewen, the health officer of the town of Esopus. The latest death occurred on Thursday evening and was Catherine, the five and a half year old daughter of John Quick. The child had only been ill but a short time. This is the second death to occur in West Park. The Quick family resides in the same house with the Ostranders at West Park, and Ernest, the three year old son of Harvey Ostrander, is also ill with infantile paralysis, which with the case of Harold Hoyer, three years old, have been reported and are quarantined. The Hoyer case is thought to have been contracted in Hyde Park, Dutchess county. The disease seems confined to West Park, and no other cases have been reported in the town of Esopus.

Quarantine Squad Starts Saturday.

This morning Chief Wood selected a temporary list of fifteen special policemen from the applications received for the position, and was busy today formulating rules and organization for the quarantine squad, who will assume their duties on Saturday morning in charge of Policeman Fout. The special men will be paid at the rate of $2.50 per day, and every entrance to the city will be guarded.

The Governor's Appointees.

July appointments of notaries public for Ulster county have been announced by Governor Whitman as follows: Christy W. Huberts, Saugerties; John P. Whalen, Kingston; Christopher S. Lowther, Saugerties; James A. Reynolds, Saugerties; Patrick J. Ross, Kingston.

WHY BANKERS ARE OPPOSED TO TRUST COMPANY

Opposition to the Kingston Trust Company's application for a charter before Superintendent of Banks Eugene Lamb Richards at Albany on Thursday was based principally on the fact that the five national banks in this city have ample funds for loaning to borrowers who can give adequate security and that business conditions in Kingston do not warrant the establishment of another bank, or a trust company, because the existing institutions are compelled to seek outside investments in order to keep their capital employed.

Situation Reviewed by Mr. Clarke.

The affidavit of F. J. R. Clarke, president of the National Ulster County Bank, reviewed conditions in regard to the formation of the city government, population of the city, etc., and geographical conditions. The city consists of thirteen wards of which one election district each and some of these districts are small. The Sixth ward contains three banks and the First ward contains five banks. Residents of the Fifth and Thirteenth wards would pass by or near the banks in the Sixth ward to reach the central part of the city, where it is proposed to locate the new trust company, and practically all residents of the Twelfth ward pass the banks in the First ward to reach the same section.

Chamber of Commerce Furnishes Figures.

At this point Superintendent Richards said that his special investigator who had been in Kingston had been supplied with certain figures compiled by the Chamber of Commerce. These figures showed that the number of individuals employed in the central district of the city was 2,770; in the downtown district, 1,951; in the uptown district, 91. It was the experience of banking he said, that employees were most likely to deposit their money in banks on their way to or from business.

Corporation Counsel Brannan interjected that the employees shown by the Chamber of Commerce tables were not seeking loans of the banks.

"Does the Chamber of Commerce endorse this application?" asked Judge Clearwater.

Superintendent Richards said it did not appear so, but that the itemized statement had been furnished by the Chamber of Commerce to his special investigator.

Percentage of Capital to Deposits.

Mr. Clarke included next in his affidavit a comparative statement of cities about the size of Kingston, showing the percentage of capital to deposits in commercial banks and trust companies, as follows:

Banks, City. Capital, Deposits, P. C.

5 Kingston $1,400,000 $2,370,000 43

6 Poughkeepsie 580,000 10,500,000 17

3 Auburn 1,000,000 6,410,000 20

4 Binghamton 1,840,000 7,580,000 24

5 Elmira 2,200,000 9,940,000 25

2 Gloversville 1,445,000 6,657,000 25

3 Hudson 1,110,000 3,870,000 27

4 Lockport 905,000 6,700,000 15

4 New Rochelle 845,000 1,102,000 11

4 Newburgh 1,812,000 6,091,000 29

2 Rome 140,000 1,140,000 23

4 Watertown 2,065,000 7,160,000 28

Banks Seek Outside Securities.

The banks now in the city, continued Mr. Clarke's affidavit, are unable to loan all their available funds locally and are forced to invest some of their deposits in outside securities.

In times past there have been individuals who made a practice of loaning money to borrowers but for many years there has ceased to be in the city any persons who are known to be in the business of loaning money, indicating that the banks in Kingston are adequately supplying all funds sought for by solvent borrowers. In addition to the banking capital of the commercial banks, there are two loan associations and a postal savings bank system located in Kingston, and under the Federal Reserve Act which permits rediscounting there is almost unlimited capital now available to the citizens.

Attention was called in Mr. Clarke's affidavit to the business formerly conducted by the Delaware & Hudson Canal Company and to the former activity of the cement and quarry industries, which businesses have practically ceased. In addition there were several thousand acres containing seven villages and much farming country and large boarding houses which have been destroyed for the Ashokan reservoir and many of the residents of that section who transacted business in the Kingston banks have gone elsewhere so that there is now need for even less banking capital than at the time when previous applications were made for charters for trust companies, which former applications were denied.

National Banks Have Enlarged Powers.

Attention also was called to the fact that national banks can now do nearly every kind of business that is done by trust companies, except acting as executor, trustee or guardian, and that few corporations have ever been named as executors of wills of Ulster county residents.

From his experience as a banker, Mr. Clarke expressed the opinion that the new trust company, if formed, would not be a paying institution but would outside the banking business in Kingston and be an injury to all the existing banks, including the savings banks and the shareholders in the several national banks.

The Chamber of Commerce Central Loan.

Pay for State Troops.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 28.—Governor Whitman is to confer late this afternoon with Adjutant General Stotesbury relative to the pay of the New York troops now on the Texas border. FOUR BRITISH SHIPS CAPTURED

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, July 28.—Four more British steamships, one of which is believed to have been a passenger vessel have been captured by German warships. One was released through the intercession of the commander of a Swedish torpedo boat. The steamers George Allen and Ambassador were captured off Landskrona. Two others were captured in the Cattegat. The George Allen was released when the commander of the Swedish torpedo boat sustained the claim of the master of the British vessel that his ship had been captured in Swedish territorial waters.

Brewer-Dowell.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Dowell of No. 29 South Manor avenue announce the marriage of their daughter, Mabel to Harry A. Brewer of Beacon, on Saturday evening, July 22, at 8 o'clock. The Rev. R. C. Dadds officiated.

Penny-Skelly.

A wedding of interest to Kingston folks was solemnized at the Annunciation Church, New York city, on July 10, at 10:30 a. m. The church was prettily decorated for the occasion when Miss Helen R. Penny of Weehawken Heights, N. J., and George Skelly of Bound Brook, N. J., were united in marriage by the Rev. Monsignor Penny, with a former resident of this city, being a graduate of Ulster Academy, also of New Paltz Normal School. To the strains of Liebergrin wedding march, played by Miss York, organist of the Annunciation Church, the bride and groom entered the church and proceeded down the aisle to the altar, the bride on the arm of her father, James C. Penny. The bride looked very bewitching in a beautiful creation of white tulle and lace, trimmed with white lilies and carried a bouquet of white roses and white sweet peas. She was attended by her sister, Miss Sadie Penny, who wore a gown of white lace over pink Georgette crepe with hat of lilies and pink flowers. She carried a bouquet of white roses and pink sweet peas. The best man was William Penny, brother of the bride, and the ushers were T. F. Nolan, Walter Skelly and Erwin Hanks. After the ceremony a dinner was served at Hotel Theresa, New York city at which only the immediate families were guests. Upon their return from a honeymoon through Maine and the White Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Skelly will be at home at 221 West Maple avenue, Bound Brook, N. J.

Forest Fires in Canada.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 28.—Clifford R. Pettis, state superintendent of forests, returning from the Adirondacks today reported that there were no fires in any section of the Adirondack forests. Albany was filled with smoke today fanned by a breeze from the north. It was said at the conservation commission that the smoke came for the forest fires in Canada. Continued wet weather and the dense foliage which it has caused in the forests of New York state have prevented any fire outbreak. It is unusual not to have forest fires at this time of the year.

Didn't Receive Money.

Francisco Ferrara of Glasco has filed an affidavit in the county clerk's office that some time ago he, with Rosa Ferrara, executed a mortgage to the Saugerties Savings Bank for $2,000, which was placed on record on December 1, 1934; that the mortgage was placed on record before the money was received. In accordance with the custom of the Saugerties Bank, but that he has not received the money and does not intend to receive it, and that the affidavit is made to induce the bank to execute a satisfaction piece.

Troops Want Their Pay.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, July 28.—Lieut. Col. J. Mayhew Walcott, who is investigating conditions at McAllen, Tex., so far as they relate to the comfort of the New York troops there, reported today that conditions generally at the camp are satisfactory. The men asked that they receive their state pay before the federal paymaster comes along.

OUR ABUSED FEET

Many Ills Come From Wearing the Wrong Kind of Shoes.

THEN, TOO, WE SHOULD TOE IN

That is the Natural Way to Walk or Run, as it Puts the Strain Where it Belongs. While Toeing Out Impairs the Bones and Breeds Trouble.

Corns, ingrowing nails, crooked toes, bunions, spreading feet, arch trouble, aching feet are all caused by toeing out while walking. It is not natural for those who start with normal feet to toe out.

It is natural to toe in, not far in, but just inside of a line straight ahead. All children toe in, nearly all youths toe in. Some people toe in all their lives, but they are few. All barefooted people toe in. All moccasined Indians toe in. No one can run without toeing in. No speed can be made without doing so. By toeing in the spring of the foot comes from all the small bones of the front part of the foot. When one tows out he is trying to walk on the inner side of the foot.

Why does toeing out cause trouble? Because the strain upon the foot in walking is greater than it should be. It inclines the first two bones of the big toe toward the smaller toes by degrees, until the spring finally comes from the inner side of the big toe and its second joint. This undue strain on the second joint is constantly pulling it inward and away from the smaller bones. As the strain continues the tissues and ligaments that bind the bones in the forefoot together stretch and give way, and finally it becomes separated somewhat and bulges out into what is called a bunion. A bunion is a partial dislocation.

At this stage of impairment the bones connecting with the smaller toes across the ball of the foot settle down, and what is called the transverse arch is impaired. There are two arches in the foot—a longitudinal arch, with which every one is familiar, and the transverse arch across the ball of the foot from side to side. It is the transverse arch that is first affected, and it is at this stage of foot trouble that most people begin to complain and look for help.

Why did those who toe out do so in the first place when it is natural to toe in? This real reason was because they wore shoes. Barefooted people do not toe out. So the shoe is the cause. Shoes are habitually too short and too narrow across the end of the toes, and the long, pointed toe of the shoe helps to prevent toeing naturally. The big toe is strong and monopolizes the limited space; the small toes, being weaker, are crushed in narrow quarters until their natural symmetry is gone. They are crowded backward by a shoe too short until the ends are curled under and their nails point toward the ground instead of straight ahead. The first two joints of the third and fourth toes are forced upward, and the third joint is pushed down farther and farther as the tissue supporting it become more and more stretched by the pressure from above and the forced spreading of the bones of the foot.

The third bone of the third toe at this stage stands almost straight up and down in the shoe. The result is a corn on top and pain in the foot from the pressure and sometimes a corn or thickening on the bottom of the foot just under the third joint of the third toe. At this stage there are ingrowing nails, due to the sideways pressure of the shoe, that also are painful, so the sufferer begins to toe out to prevent the pressure pain that would occur from the sore and otherwise impaired small toes if he toed in as he should.

The most sensible covering ever made for the feet is the moccasin of the American Indian, worn without a stocking. Sandals also are good. The sneakers of children and tennis shoes with pliable rubber soles are next best. Shoes should be so constructed that it will be difficult, if not impossible, to toe out. A line drawn through the length of the big toe of a normal foot backward will strike the heel near the inner edge. Shoes should not compress the toes to alter this line in children. However the toes may have been pressed out of shape, the shoes of adults when made of leather with an unyielding sole should extend straight forward well past the end of the big toe and outward past the third toe and then slope backward past the little toe to the outer ball of the foot. In a shoe so shaped the wearer will find it difficult to toe out; the big toe will have its share of room. The sole should be flat, both from side to side and from end to end, so the arch has room to settle down as required with each step to furnish the necessary spring. The heel may be made snug and provision made for a snug fit across the instep to prevent the heel from slipping. There should be no lift on the heel except just enough to raise it level with the sole, and this lift should be of rubber.

The right kind of a shoe will be a queer looking thing as we now see things, for in place of the offending pointed toe it will look more like the blade of a paddle. It will not be stiff and unyielding. It will be from three to five inches across the ball of the foot. Fashion is whimsical, and such a shoe when it becomes regular may be considered beautiful.—Dr. Arthur B. Reynolds in American Magazine.

The only thing many a man has done in the past is to dream of the future.—New York Times.

BREAKING IN YOUR MAID.

Practical Ways to Teach Her Without Also Baffling Her.

In teaching a new maid you will have to be patient and try not to tell her too many things to do all at once—that is, impress one duty at the time. If she will wear the neat print frock, white apron and tiny cap of the regular dining room maid they will help to give her proper pride in learning to serve correctly.

If soup is dished in the kitchen teach her to bring in the plates not more than two at the time on a tray. Have the large service plates in place and let her place the soup plates in them from the left hand. In removing they are taken one at a time, one piece, also from the left. Everything is served from the left hand, as it is more convenient in every way. A point you should insist upon is that she be very careful not to touch the edges of any dish with her thumb in passing, and the way to avoid this is to have a tray upon which dishes with vegetables may be carried, a serving spoon or fork, or both, in each dish.

Teach her to have the glasses filled before guests are seated; also to have the bread either on a bread tray or a slice or roll within the fold of the napkin. Salt and pepper casters as well as coasters for feet, tea glasses, bread and butter plates, spreaders, spoons, knife and fork, etc., all should be in place. This relieves her and makes for a quiet, pleasant meal.

In removing all plates and dishes after serving they should not be piled nor placed noisily within hearing. Crumbs are to be removed with a napkin in her hand on to a plate held in her left hand. Dessert is served from the left. After dinner coffee is placed at the right hand with sugar and cream, if liked. If large cups of coffee are served with the meal they should be placed at the right hand from a tray with the greatest care not to spill any in the saucers.

Many women select all white for maids, but the striped blue or gray and white or plain blue with small white apron and a tiny cap are a good choice. If a maid must help in the kitchen the big apron covering her entire dress is easily slipped off before entering the dining room.

Wise Precaution.

In making up wash materials one always has to take into consideration the fact that the fabric may shrink after washing. If you wish to avoid undoing the hem in this order to lengthen it again try this method: Before you hem the bottom of the skirt run a tuck in the hem on the wrong side. Sew this tuck with long stitches nearly at the top of the hem, then finish the hem as usual, taking care not to take stitches of the tuck with the hemming. If the skirt shrinks it is a matter of a few moments to tip the long stitches and let it down without undoing the hem.

For Afternoons.

Colored print dresses are quaintly embellished by roll over collars of white muslin with colored hemstitched border.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 28, 1916.

Conventions of men engaged in the same line of work are largely social in character although the expression of opinion on problems presented to the craft usually brings out much valuable information which has been gained only on the thorny path of experience by the contributor of the item. The chiefs of police of the State in their annual gathering just concluded in Kingston did not attempt to solve all the most questions of the law and the prophets which are continually being raised in the courts and the administration of justice. Instead with rare good sense, they settled down to a quiet enjoyment of their double holiday and by the businesslike conduct of proceedings managed to extract amusement and useful data from a wide range of papers presented for their consideration. Like every other gathering of officials the police chiefs were besought by this or that agency for an endorsement or for support and like men of good judgment, they gave them all short shrift and proceeded about their own affairs, sidetracking or turning down almost every matter thus brought to their attention.

In addition to the quiet satisfaction this must have given to the dignified members of this representative State organization, the opposition so unimpassionately registered to questionable advertising propositions which have been attached to the State Association for some time will be hailed with delight by patrons of the publication. Therefore it has been customary to get out an annual booklet from which no small revenue is derived by the promoters through advertisements solicited from business men in the home cities of each chief of police belonging to the State body. The advertising like all other souvenir book advertising, has been of little or no value, while the standard of ethics maintained by the police chiefs has been impaired in the capitalization of police popularity by clever solicitors of advertising patronage. No good has resulted to any persons concerned save perhaps the maker of the books and the chiefs determined to put a stop to the use of the association's name and their own personalities in connection with such purely money-getting enterprises. The relief thus assured to the tired business man, already overburdened with assaults on his advertising intelligence and pocket book as well, is like a bracing breeze in the midst of a hot, muggy day.

If the letter received by a German violinist and educator living in Tennessee from his brother in Germany, stating that a German Zeppelin will make an overseas trip to the United States before August fifteenth, tells the truth, the United States may well consider the real meaning of the demonstration. The use of submarines for ordinary commercial or passenger purposes cannot be made a paying proposition unless sea travel for ordinary ships becomes so fraught with danger as to make it prohibitive. Zeppelins for commercial transportation also are impractical from a money-making standpoint. Submarines and Zeppelins are intended solely for military advantage and their development for military purposes has been the aim of their inventors. The trip of the Deutschland across and under the Atlantic to Baltimore was more for the purpose of demonstrating Germany's power to overcome obstacles than to reopen commerce between countries where the lanes of travel have been closed by the British blockade. To display its power, might also be the chief aim of Germany in sending a Zeppelin to the United States, and a trial trip following closely after the cruise of the Deutschland and the anticipated arrival of the submarine Bremen might well be taken as an indication that the trips merely prearranged a demand of some kind on the United States or are for the purpose of impressing us sufficiently with German power that of our own initiative we will hasten to become more closely allied with the Teutonic monarchy than we have been since it violated Belgian neutrality and caused the loss of hundreds of American lives by sinking the Lusitania.

Tentative.
 Their teacher had lately become engaged, and all the girls were tremendously interested—naturally. Everybody wanted to see the ring, and more than one was grievously disappointed in the size and splendor of the token. One 16-year-old maid considered it critically and then remarked:
 "It's mighty small, ain't it? Does that mean that you haven't really quite made up your mind to take him?"

Chivalry And Bad Roads.

The late Senator Francis M. Cockrell of Missouri often used to tell a story in illustration of the bad roads of the south.

"I once had 30 miles," so he would begin, "to go by stage in Mississippi. The roads were terrible, for it was early spring. The passengers consisted of five men and three women—three large women, swathed in shawls and veils, who kept to themselves, talking in low tones on the rear seat."

"Well, we hadn't gone a mile before the stage got stuck two feet in the black mud. Down jumped every man of us and for 10 minutes we tugged and perked and pulled till we got the stage out of the hole."

"We had hardly got our breath back when the stage got stuck again, and once more we had to strain our very hearts out to release her."

"In covering 15 miles we stuck eight times, and in going the whole 30 we lifted that old stage out of the mud 17 times by actual count."

"We five male passengers were wet, tired and filthy when we reached our destination, and so you can imagine our feelings when we saw the three women passengers remove their veils, their shawls and their skirts, and lo and behold, they were three big, hearty, robust men."

"As we stared at them with bulging and ferocious eyes, one of them said:
 "Thanks for your labor, gentles. We knowed this road and prepared for it. Will you liquor?"—Washington Star.

To Suit All Tastes.

The following conversation was overheard in a railway train in England not long ago:

Just as the train was moving from the station two men were bundled into a carriage. Both were of the sporting type and were evidently particularly keen on racing.

"Let's have a look at your paper, Bill," said Charlie.

"Here we are, Charlie," said Bill, handing his friend an evening paper. After a few minutes of silence Charlie remarked sentimentally:
 "Wonderful things newspapers, aren't they, Bill? They've got so many different sorts of things in 'em—stories, cookery, sports, something for everybody, in fact."

"You're right they are, Charlie." "But what's this blank space, Bill?" pointing to the blank space reserved for stop-press news.

"Oh," replied Bill, "that's for people who can't read."—Philadelphia Ledger.

B. S. L. Put One Over.

Wednesday information was furnished The Freeman from what was thought to be a reputable source regarding the exploits of the Gander Bay Club of Poughkeepsie, but Thursday afternoon Webster H. Burhans, on whose boat the club was supposed to have made its trip, said there is no such club as the Gander Bay Club and that the facts were that about seven or eight young men went to "Cruger's Island on his boat."

While they were on the island the swells from a passing steamer swamped the motor boat which lay at anchor, and they were forced to hire another boat to tow them home.

The young men were not on the boat when it was capsized by the swells and they did not lose their refreshments. Mr. Burhans said they also got safely home that night.

department's special investigator, Superintendent Richards read a list of the occupations of the employees. The central zone, which would be served by the trust company, contained among other employees 1,020 cigar makers. The central zone extended from Albany Avenue to Chestnut street, the sections beyond being served by the present banks.

Mr. Brinnier said that fully 75 per cent of the employees in the central zone were under 18 years of age.

Banks Have Reduced Capital.

In a brief submitted to Superintendent Richards, Judge Betts discussed the reduction by three of the national banks of their capital by $375,000. An additional bank or trust company would be extremely unlikely to bring in additional capital or deposits but would tend to divide up the capital now employed and lead to additional expense. The reduction of capital in the past was a fact, not a theory, and was done by the owners of bank shares for their own financial protection. They did this because the banks were too largely capitalized for the amount of deposits and it is idle to say they would have reduced the capital if there was any necessity for such capital being invested in bank shares.

Most of the applicants for the trust company charter have had no experience as bank directors, although one of them, Gilbert F. Kennedy, had had banking experience of which the superintendent of banks could learn if he desired to make inquiries in Kingston.

This remark led Mr. Connelly to retort that Mr. Kennedy was not one of the applicants, but was merely an attorney in the matter.

What Superintendent Richards Would Require.

To this Superintendent Richards commented that any company would have directors that were satisfactory to the superintendent of banks before it started, if the charter should be granted.

To Judge Betts's statement that the savings banks now paid four per cent to depositors, and that a trust company would injure them, Superintendent Richards stated that any trust company which he authorized to do business would be limited to paying 3½ per cent on time deposits.

Superintendent Richards asked if there was any reason why the central zone he had mentioned should not be supplied with banking facilities.

Judge Betts said he merely wished to call attention to the city of Albany, where practically all the banking institutions were grouped within a short distance of each other; yet the superintendent did not see fit to have banks established all over the city, every block or two.

Superintendent Richards asked what was in the National Bank Act for establishing branches, but this matter was not cleared up. He asked also if he limited the trust company interest on deposits to 3½ per cent, what would be the effect on the savings banks?

Judge Clearwater, Judge Kennedy replied it would result in the savings banks reducing their interest to the same interest.

Mr. Tappen's Affidavit.

An affidavit of Charles Tappen, treasurer of the Kingston Savings Bank, was also read by Judge Betts. It set forth the deposits and surplus in the Kingston Savings Banks as follows:

| Bank | Deposits | Surplus |
|-----------------------------|-----------------|--------------|
| Kingston Savings Bank | $2,201,915.05 | $317,326.34 |
| Ulster County Savings Inst. | 5,262,271.30 | 201,234.21 |

The funds of the savings banks are invested in the securities permitted by the savings bank law, and the savings banks practically at all times have money which can be loaned to citizens on satisfactory bonds and mortgages as security and on the collateral permitted by law.

From Mr. Tappen's affidavit, a banker Mr. Tappen believed that a trust company would greatly injure the depositors of the savings banks and be likely to draw money from them, and if great amounts were so drawn it would compel the calling in of mortgages or marketing investments, or both, and that any considerable return of American securities from Europe at the close of the present war would depress the market value of practically all securities held by the savings banks, and with the unsettled conditions in Europe it would be dangerous and unsafe to depositors to authorize the formation of a new trust company.

Judge Betts argued that the safety of the depositors of savings banks should be considered equally as important as the convenience of others.

Interest on Time Deposits.

To questions by Superintendent Richards, the attorneys stated that the National Ulster County Bank pays 3½ per cent on time deposits, with a minimum of three months; the First National Bank of Rondout pays 3 and 3½ per cent on a few time accounts, and the other National Banks do not pay interest on such deposits.

Chamber of Commerce Zones Artificial.

Judge Clearwater, on behalf of the First National Bank of Rondout, and the Rondout Savings Bank, said that the zones furnished by the Chamber of Commerce had been artificially but ingeniously laid out. The latest experiment in banking in Ulster county was at Kerhonkson, where arguments similar to those now presented were raised before the comptroller of currency, who had granted a charter, the organizers claiming they were compelled to travel too far to transact business at Ellenville or Kingston. On the last call, the report showed deposits of only $12,000.

The figures presented by the Chamber of Commerce were certainly misleading. The proprietor of one large department store in the uptown zone had informed him that the store had 12 people in its employ, who evidently were not accounted for in the Chamber of Commerce report. There always had been and always would be devices for handling other people's money.

The experience of the National Banks which had reduced their capital should be a strong commentary on whether a trust company was needed. The First National Bank of Rondout at the present time had $250,000 unloaned which it would be glad to loan on sufficient security.

For fifteen years it had been said by thinking men of Kingston that there were three National Banks too many and two savings banks too many in Kingston, and no one had made a contrary statement except the charming gentlemen who were behind this application. If the existing banks could be combined, the interests of depositors and shareholders would be conserved and banking conditions improved.

The statement of the Kingston commercial banks showed:

|---------------------|----------------|
| Capital stock | $750,000.00 |
| Surplus | $85,000.00 |
| Undivided profits | $31,661.25 |
| Deposits | $2,276,798.33 |
| Loans and discounts | $2,574,291.04 |

The loans and discounts were what they were because the banks could not find people who would take the money and give ample security. This certainly was a pitiable showing for banking business.

Conditions in Ulster County.

In the last five years Ulster county's population has decreased 6,592. It had lost a large and populous territory by reason of the construction of the Ashokan reservoir and other severe losses had been sustained. In the downtown district 2,300 men were employed. The up-town section employed many people in business houses. In the center of the city were manufacturing plants which employed both men and women, but they were not seeking loans from the banks.

"There is also a large increase in that section in the number of small shops and stores," said Superintendent Richards.

"And likewise in the number of bankruptcies," said Judge Clearwater, who said that one property in that section which had been held for $8,000 by its owner during his lifetime some years ago could not now be sold for $5,000.

Companies Did Not Sign Petition.

Corporation Counsel Brinnier asked whether the American Cigar Company had petitioned for the trust company. Gilbert F. Kennedy replied that Manager Schlesinger had signed. Judge Clearwater asked if the Kingston Gas & Electric Company had signed, and was told that Manager Tobey had signed.

Richards said it was evident that the petition had been signed in some instances by subordinates and not by the companies themselves.

Mr. Brinnier said he desired to call attention to the fact that Van Slyke & Horton, located in the central zone, with its $100,000 capital, did its banking business in Albany as formerly. The amount of Ulster county deposits with Poughkeepsie and Newburgh Trust Companies was easily explained. Highland people naturally crossed the river to Poughkeepsie, and Newburgh was nearer for the people of Milton and Marlborough. Kingston could not expect to get this business. No man of any responsibility could go to any Kingston bank and not get accommodation, but fly-by-nights were not recognized.

On behalf of the State of New York National Bank, Mr. Brinnier submitted an affidavit reviewing the banking situation and expressing the opinion that a trust company would be inimical to the interests of the existing banks, and also filed a letter from Elting Longyear, withdrawing his name from the petition for the trust company charter.

How Money Travels.

Philip Elting, on behalf of the Ulster County Savings Institution, discussed the matter of Ulster county deposits in Newburgh and Poughkeepsie Trust Companies and said that the Ulster County Savings Institution had on deposit over $200,000 of Dutchess county money, so that for every dollar of Kingston money deposited elsewhere, a dollar of Dutchess county money was brought here.

Virel B. Van Wagoner, on behalf of the Kingston National Bank, supplemented this statement by saying that where depositors went into another county to make deposits, it was because they desired secrecy in regard to their own affairs among their own banking people. The present banks could be reached in ten minutes by trolley from the central part of the city, where the new company desired to locate.

Howard Chinn, on behalf of the Ulster County Savings Institution, said that at the present time the banks were unable to secure borrowers who would give good security and therefore were compelled to have bonds at four to four and one-half per cent. This was not the wisdom of the savings bank law, which was not necessary to do a thing, based on bank deposits, as follows:

| City | Rank | Deposits | Per Cent |
|------------------|------|----------------|----------|
| Kingston | 1 | $2,201,915.05 | 3½ |
| Poughkeepsie | 2 | 5,262,271.30 | 3½ |
| Rondout | 3 | 3,997,899.51 | 3½ |
| Albany | 4 | 14,745,514 | 3½ |
| Elmira | 5 | 10,535,066 | 3½ |
| Rome | 6 | 9,375,338 | 3½ |
| Jamestown | 7 | 10,117,000 | 3½ |
| Saratoga Springs | 8 | 15,000,000 | 3½ |
| Mr. Virel | 9 | 8,000,000 | 3½ |
| See Schedule | 10 | 1,000,000 | 3½ |

Albany also has three private banks.

Judged by deposits, therefore, he argued that Kingston has sufficient money to warrant a trust company.

SEGREGATION WILL CHECK PARALYSIS

Not Only the Sick Should be Isolated But the Well Should be Segregated to Keep Them From Exposure—Quarantine Ordinance Violated.

The vigorous action taken by the board of health Thursday afternoon to prevent the spread of the epidemic of infantile paralysis has been commended everywhere in town today and the hope is expressed that the board will be just as vigorous in enforcing the ordinance passed.

There has been considerable discussion over the case of Pauline Barlowe, who was brought to Kingston by her parents from Old Hurley on Sunday and is now quartered in the home of Mrs. Smith at No. 139 St. James street. The child was brought here Sunday night by the parents, who went to the office of Dr. E. E. Norwood. The doctor was out. He was called later, but did not diagnose the case as infantile paralysis until Wednesday when he notified Dr. Frank A. Johnston, health officer.

Ordinance Violated.

The ordinance adopted recently by the board of health requiring householders to report to the board of health the presence in their houses of any children from out of town within twenty-four hours after their arrival was violated by the Smith family, and the ordinance prescribes a penalty of fifty dollars for such violation. That the ordinance was not generally regarded as a dead letter is shown by the fact that the arrival of several hundred children, stopping here temporarily, has been reported to the board of health. That ordinance now has been superseded by the ordinance adopted by the board of health Thursday afternoon prohibiting the entrance of children in Kingston except for the purpose of passing through the city. The former ordinance was a dead letter so far as the Smith family was concerned, however, and the matter of arrest for its violation will be taken up by the board of health as soon as the family is out of quarantine. The presence of the child in Kingston was not reported to the board of health until 3 15 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

Disease Has Three Forms.

Infantile paralysis has three forms. One form is gastrointestinal, and its presence is marked by vomiting, etc. The second form affects the respiratory organs. The third is the muscular type, which is accompanied by paralysis.

About fifty per cent of the cases of infantile paralysis develop paralysis, which may leave the patient a partial paralytic for part or all of his or her remaining life. It is this type, also, which most frequently proves fatal.

The germ may be carried for six weeks and is most often distributed by children who become infected with it but do not develop the more severe type of the disease. In a talk before the doctors of Hudson and vicinity at Hudson Wednesday night, Dr. John Draper, formerly connected with the Rockefeller Hospital in New York city, who has made a special study of the disease and is considered the best expert on the subject in the country, stated that the meningitic type is the type of the disease most to be feared. A boy or girl may become infected with the infantile disease germ in one of the three forms mentioned. He may develop the first or second type and within a few days, according to Dr. Draper, is pronounced to be suffering from some other ailment and as soon as he regains his good feelings, within a few days, he is allowed to play with other children. He is still carrying the disease germ, however, which is communicable to other children, and they may develop the more violent type, resulting in partial or complete paralysis, or death.

Keep Children at Home.

Segregation of healthy children, as well as those who are ill, or those who may have been ill for a few days, is one of the measures best adapted to stamping out the epidemic. Parents with yards in which their children can play can aid in this work by preventing further spread of the disease by preventing their children from playing with other children, no matter how healthy all the children may appear to be, for the germ may be among some of them and be communicated to others. It is a hardship for children not to be allowed to play with other children, but not nearly as great as the disease itself with its possibly disastrous consequences.

The attention of the board of health has been called to persistent rumors that children from New York city have been coming to Kingston on the barges and other boats forming the tow which arrive here daily, and that such children have been brought ashore after darkness and have not been reported to the board of health. The ordinance adopted by the board of health Thursday afternoon will prevent further visits of this kind, and the waterfront will be guarded by special officers within the next twelve hours so that the ordinance can be strictly enforced.

Odell Hits Gardner.

While turning around in the creek on Wednesday evening, the steamer Odell struck the steamer yacht Gardner which was tied up for the night at Sleightsburgh, slightly damaging the yacht which was taken to Hitebrent's shipyard for repairs. It was said the current in the creek was so strong that the Odell swung out further than was intended.

Adjudged in Contempt.

An order signed by Judge Haddock on Thursday adjudged James J. Kearney guilty of contempt for failure to pay $100 counsel fees in an action brought against him by his wife, Della L. Kearney, when she was granted a decree of separation before Judge Terts in October, 1911. Roscoe Irwin is the attorney for Mrs. Kearney and the sheriff is directed to round up the delinquent.

Those living on or near the corner said they heard various noises during that night, although nothing could be learned. The town authorities are awaiting further developments.

On account of the contagious disease, infantile paralysis, the board of health requests the librarians of the libraries not to allow children under sixteen to take out books until further notice. Grown people cannot take books if they have sickness in their families without a certificate from Dr. Preston. ble collar, tailored cuffs and sash pockets pendant from a straight belt are interesting motifs, being made of striped brown tussore silk.

POCKETS A FEATURE.

No Museum or Godey's Book Reveals More Piquancy Than the New Ones. Separate sport skirts are now quite as likely to be of silk jersey, khaki-kool or la jeta, as of linen, even if the knitted silk, wool jersey or the velvet coat is worn. They are very lovely in white, and the advantage of being washable and needing no stiffening makes them invaluable at the shore. While there are some skirts laid in long, narrow pressed plaits, most of the sport skirts are cut flaring and in few gores. Their novel feature lies in the pockets, on which much personal ingenuity is displayed. Pockets, whether slashed or patch, are cut in odd shapes. The crescent tops are one of the favorite outlines. The upper edge will often have a tiny plaiting of a contrasting material. The belt, which is of the same material generally, may have this same plaiting along the edge and buttons with as many as three buttons. Sometimes pockets are found in the belt. They are little slashes, which are often faced, as are the up to date buttonholes, and are only large enough to hold a watch or key.

Sand Toys.

There are some children who will always be satisfied to spend a morning on the beach with only the little tin bucket and shovel or a few old shells. But there are others, and they are the majority, who want more play toys for the beach or sand pile than merely these. For them there comes a set of wooden blocks, with a hollowed circle on one side, into which is molded a letter of the alphabet. With these molds a child can put out on the dampened sand any combination of letters which he likes. These surely rank among the useful toys and are worth purchasing for the educational value which they possess.

Another toy which will teach a principle of physics is the sand wheel, a wooden paddle wheel caught between two wooden boxes. Through the top one either sand or water may be slowly poured to turn the wheel beneath.

A small wooden auto on wooden wheels will cart the sand for a fort.

AN EQUINE HERO.

Story of Old Baldy, One of the Most Famous Horses in History.

The head of one of the most famous horses in history hangs mounted on a shield in the headquarters of George G. Meade post in Philadelphia. It is that of Old Baldy, General Meade's mount in the operations of the armies of the Potomac and Virginia. The horse was raised in the west and was brought east by Colonel E. D. Baker of Oregon, who was killed at Ball's Bluff on Oct. 21, 1861. General Meade bought him in Washington for $150.

The horse was wounded in the nose by a piece of shell at the battle of Bull Run on July 21, 1861, but was not put out of service. He served at Dranesville, Mechanicsville, Gaines Mills and Groveton and was wounded again at the second battle of Bull Run, on Aug. 30, 1862, when he was shot through a hind leg.

Two weeks later he was ridden at the battle of South Mountain, and on Sept. 17 he was shot through the neck at the battle of Antietam and was abandoned, apparently dying. He was afterward found by General Meade's servant browsing on the battlefield. He had recovered sufficiently to serve General Meade in the October and November campaign at Falmouth. In 1863 he was at Chancellorsville during the first three days of May and at Gettysburg on July 1, 2 and 3. He was shot through the ribs on July 2.

He was in three other engagements that year, and in 1864 he was in the Wilderness campaign at Spottsylvania, North Anna Creek, Cold Harbor, Petersburg and several other places where there was hard fighting.

At the end of the war he was taken to General Meade's country place near Philadelphia, where he remained seven years. He was led in the great parade in Philadelphia on Dec. 16, 1870, in honor of General Grant's return from his tour of the world. He was later given to John J. Davis of Jenkintown, who cared for him until it became necessary to kill him because he became too feeble to stand. This was on Dec. 16, 1882. He survived his famous master about ten years.—Philadelphia Ledger.

DEFOE IN THE PILLORY.

When the Famous Writer Was Both Punished and Applauded.

The whipping post had as its companion 100 years or more ago, not in this country, but in England, the pillory. This punishment was ended by an act of the British parliament, dated June 30, 1837.

Perhaps the most famous sufferer at the pillory was a man who has delighted millions of English speaking boys and girls and many older persons by his book, "Robinson Crusoe," which was the precursor of juvenile books as we now know them. This sufferer was Daniel Defoe, who was not only a writer of entrancing fiction, but famous as a keen political pamphleteer. In 1703, in the reign of Queen Anne, there came from his hand "a scandalous and seditious pamphlet," entitled "The Shortest Way With the Dissenters."

A reward of £50 was offered by the government for the author, and rather than that his printer and publisher should suffer in his stead, Defoe gave himself up and was sentenced to be pilloried three times.

On July 20 of that year the daring satirist stood unmolested on the pillory in Cheapside. The punishment was repeated two days afterward in the Temple, where a sympathizing crowd flung garlands instead of garbages at the stout hearted pamphleteer. Drunk his health with loud acclaim and sang his "Hymn to the Pillory." In this hymn occur these lines:

Tell them the men that placed him here
Are scoundrels to the times;
Are at a loss to find his guilt
And can't commit his crimes.

Water Colors.

Pigments have been used, from the earliest times and are now used by all savages for decorative purposes. But the paint used in Babylon and Nineveh and in Pompeii was composed of pigments mixed not with oil, but with water to which had been added a little glue, egg albumen or perhaps sometimes casein, which is albuminous matter from milk or the gluten from cereal grains. Glue, however, which was well known to the ancient Egyptians, was the most used binding material. Such paints are now known as fresco paints or water colors.

AN INFIRE DINNER.

It Used to Be an Important Function For the Newly Wedded.

Were you ever invited to an infire dinner? You are familiar with the "house warming" that is as likely to take place in midsummer as any other season, and if you are a business man you cannot have escaped the demand for a floral tribute when some new firm has embarked in your particular line of trade or profession.

But the chances are that if you know anything definite about an infire dinner you are either too old to care about discussing it or you are of Scotch or North of England origin, unless, of course, you happen to have spent most of your life in Indiana. In the latter event you learned all about a charming custom from your mother or grandmother.

In rural Indiana the old ceremonial has even yet not gone the way of most of the ceremonial practices of our ancestors, for it is still observed in a modified form. However, there is no slender meaning attached to its omission, as was the case two generations ago.

In the days of our grandparents if the groom's mother failed to invite the bride to the infire dinner the day following the wedding it meant one thing and one thing only—that she was not to be regarded as a member of her husband's family. The dinner was usually a more elaborate affair than the wedding supper at the bride's father's house the previous evening. It was served at high noon and included the entire bridal party, although in Scotland the bride was supposed to leave all her own kindred behind when she went to eat the dinner cooked by her mother-in-law.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

WORLD'S LARGEST CLOCK.

Its Dial, Forty Feet Across, Carries a Twenty Foot Minute Hand.

The largest clock in the world is in the tower of the Colgate building, on the Jersey side of the river, writes the New York correspondent of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

This clock, which is illuminated at night, can be seen by persons using any of the ferriesboats leaving from the lower part of Manhattan and those pling between New York and New Jersey shores. Staten Island dwellers coming to or leaving New York city and commuters from New Jersey points use it as their official timepiece and regulate their watches by it.

The clock was built at Waterbury, Conn., and so gigantic are its parts that it was necessary to being the hands from the factory on a flat car and use a box car to transport the works. The minute hand is twenty feet long and weighs half a ton, and the hour hand is fifteen feet long.

There are more than 200. The dial is forty feet in diameter, surpassing by thirteen feet six inches that of the second largest clock in the world, in the Metropolitan tower. It is fifteen feet greater than that of the clock in the tower of Philadelphia city hall, the third largest in the world, and it doubles "Big Ben," on top of the house of parliament, London, which is perhaps the most widely known clock in the world.

Where a King's Clothes Were Kept.

St. Andrew's-by-the-Wardrobe is a conspicuous waymark in Queen Victoria street and derives a grotesque distinguishing title from former proximity to the king's great wardrobe. This was originally the town mansion of St. John Beuchamp and purchased from his executors by Edward III, for the keepers of the king's apparel. "There were kept," says Fuller, "the ancient clothes of our English kings which they wore on great festivals." Shakespeare in his will left to his favorite daughter, Susannah, the Warwickshire doctor's wife, a house near the Wardrobe, "wherein one John Robinson dwelleth." The present Church of St. Andrew's-by the Wardrobe was rebuilt by Wren after the great fire and became the city center of the evangelical revival under William Romayne.—Westminster Gazette.

High Calling.

Little Walter's uncle was attached to the commissary department. Naturally little Walter wanted to know what that meant. His father explained that it was the commissary's duty to supply the soldiers with food and drink and the like. The very next day a lady came to call and asked Walter how his Uncle Paul was.

"He's fine," said the young man. "He's a waiter now."—New York Post.

Woodwork.

"Is it your intention to offer your enemy an olive branch?"

"I'm not sure," replied Senator Sorghum. "We'll try out the olive branch proposition. But we'll fix the thing so it can be turned into an ax handle."—Washington Star.

From the Stars to You.

Somewhere beneath the stars there is something that you alone were meant to do. Never rest until you have found out what it is!—John Brashear in the American Magazine.

A Long Run.

"This bill has been running now for three months," said the collector.

"Dear me," said the debtor, "how tired it must be."—Detroit Free Press.

The Plan of Opposites.

"Get hold of some soft thing."—Pittmore American.

ELLENVILLE

Ellenville, July 28.—A number of Ellenville lovers of the horse are planning to attend the races to be held at Monticello on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Morse and grandson, Leonard Osterhout, have gone to visit their daughter, Mrs. George Robinson, at Canton, New York.

Albert V. Porter has had as his guest this week J. Howard Pierson of Chicago, who some forty years ago was a resident of Ellenville, spending three years with the late Henry Hartwig, learning the tin-smith's trade.

Charles H. Moore has returned to Seattle, Wash., after a visit with his wife at her sister's, Mrs. Michael Tonery. Mrs. Moore remains for longer visit with her mother, Mrs. Banfoot, and sister, Mrs. Tonery and family.

Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Wolf of New York are spending some weeks as is their custom at their summer home on Spring street.

Ezra Coddington and wife of Middletown will remain for a time with Mrs. Coddington's sister, Mrs. J. M. DeWitt, at Faintekill.

Miss Cornelia Beebe of New York is visiting her father, George M. Beebe, and the Misses Helen and Catherine Sheehan are guests of their grandfather at the Beebe home on Maple avenue.

Miss Myers returns to her home today after a visit with her sister, Mrs. E. S. Carver, and family, on Park street.

Dr. George F. Wilklow has a new Hudson super-six automobile and W. C. Derby Elting has a new Overland, both purchased from the Wayside Inn garage.

Patterson & Schoonmaker have put in individual paper cups with silver holders for use at the soda fountain in their drug store.

Miss Gertrude Johnson of Covington, N. Y., has been engaged to teach music and drawing in the Ellenville schools.

Invitations have been issued by James D. Shiels for the annual ball to be held at the Lackawack House Saturday evening, August 5.

The Ellenville Public Library will be closed July 29 to remain closed until further notice. All books to be returned by Saturday without fail.

The Misses Mary and Lillian Fleckenstein of Belleville, N. J., are spending their vacation at the home of their uncle, Frank Fiesler, and family.

Rev. Frank Wolford, D. D., of Hasbrouck Seminary, will occupy the pulpit of the Lutheran Church on Sunday and will administer holy communion at the morning service. The heavy rain of this week did a lot of damage all through the town, especially to the roads in the Greenfield section. Town Highway Superintendent Hasbrouck is busy with a force of men repairing the damage done to the different roads.

Ward Wilklow, who recently went to New York, will return and take his old position in the Home National Bank.

The Ellenville glass works has closed down for the summer.

The new pavement on Canal street will be opened for use the last of the week.

The Ellenville creamery is closed so far as receiving milk for the present, on account of the outbreak of boarding houses using all the milk that would otherwise come to the creamery. The business is now confined to the sale of butter, eggs, cream and cheese. Butter and cream come from Roscoe.

The musical to have been given in the M. E. Church at Napanoch Friday evening has been postponed.

James Goodair and Edwin Fuller, who went to Michigan to enter an automobile school, have returned to Ellenville.

JOHN E. REDMOND
OUTLOOK FOR IRISH HOME RULE SEEMS HOPELESS.

(John Redmond).
London, July 28.—John Redmond, the Irish nationalist leader, has waged a courageous and unremitting fight for Irish home rule as a member of Parliament.

There seems to be no hope at Westminster of a resurrection of the Irish "settlement," although Lloyd George is believed to be still making advances to the various parties to see if they will confer again.

At a recent meeting of the Irish Parliamentary Party, at which John Redmond presided, the Rev. William J. Walsh, Archbishop of Dublin, issued a letter to the public declaring that the country now faces "a most truly awful prospect." He predicted that unless there is a change in the situation, the home rule cause in Ireland will lead to disaster.

Aged Woman in Suicidal Mood.
Neighbors of aged Mrs. George Parker of East Main street, Warden, have been continuously endeavoring since Wednesday to prevent the woman from committing suicide. She is a cripple and became despondent because her daughter got married.

Country's Debt to Novelist.

Charles Reade killed the horrible system of transportation for life, and removed from Australia and New Zealand the stain of being criminal dumping grounds. His novel, "It Is Never Too Late to Mend," did the trick, and the British dominions in the southern hemisphere owe the novelist a debt of gratitude which they have not failed to pay.

Little to Be Thankful For.

Miss Joy required the various members of her Sunday-school class to tell her the things for which they were thankful. Mabel gave thanks for blue eyes, Dorothy for her wavy hair. Poor little Bill, freckle-faced and red of trousers, sighed when it came his turn. "Teacher, I don't know for what to be thankful. Seems to me God purty nigh ruinat my looks."

Mendelssohn's Great Oratorio.

Mendelssohn in 1837 read the thirteenth chapter of the first book of Kings and was so struck by the verse, "Behold the Lord passeth by," that he took it as the foundation of his oratorio, "Elijah," which was begun in 1840 and in 1846 sent for translation to England, where, on August 18 rehearsals were begun for the first presentation of this work.

250 QUANTINATED IN WAWARSING

More than 250 summer boarders have been under quarantine in the town of Wawarsing within the past ten days because of the outbreak of five cases of infantile paralysis. Of these cases, one patient died, three other babies were shipped back to New York in automobiles and the fifth is still near Ellenville, too ill to be moved. Because of the enforced lengthening of their vacations by the quarantine, some of the boarding house keepers are threatening proceedings against the town authorities because their boarders who have overstayed their time claim to be "broke."

By authority of the state health department, Health Officer John W. Rapp, M. D., released the adults from quarantine rules on Wednesday. Now the only persons quarantined are children 15 years old and under. But as their mothers cannot leave them, it is virtually a quarantine for all hands. Only a few are affected as the masculine heads of the families are at work in New York for the most part.

The problem has been a staggering one for the health authorities to handle as, in these boarding houses, all conducted by Hebrews, are numbers of people living under crowded conditions. In one place, there are 59 boarders, in another 110 and about 40 in each of the two others which have been under the ban.

On discovery of the three "active" cases which were removed, the health officer communicated with the New York health department and was told to send the youngsters back to that city. One is two years and the other two each one year old.

While the quarantine was on, 15 special constables were sworn in and even then there were near riots at times. When some of the boarders declared themselves indignant, the proprietors could not throw them out when the time was up and, in some instances, made application by telephone to the town poor authorities for funds. These have not been forthcoming.

Under the law, it is said that the boarding house keeper can look to the fathers in New York for his money and that his remedy does not lie against the town. If it did, some of the towns would suffer great financial loss if any more cases resulted in closing up boarding houses. In the town of Wawarsing alone, it is estimated there are 10,000 summer boarders.

TEUTONS HAVE LOST INITIATIVE

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 28.—Germany is on the defensive. The initiative has passed to the Entente Allies. This is the one great outstanding fact of the second year of the great war.

Before, she aimed a blow where she pleased and the Allies parried it as best they might. She seized most of Belgium and a seventh of France. Twice she overwhelmed the Russians who had penetrated East Prussia.

She smashed her way far into the Czar's dominions and crushed Serbia and Montenegro. She directed a fearful battering ram of shells and human bodies on Verdun.

But with the present summer a sweeping change came over the aspect of military affairs.

Co-operating through the Allies War Council with General Joseph Joffre at its head, the Italians beat back the Austrian columns in the Trentino, the Russians drove the Teutons before them in the east with horrible destruction and the British and French began a slow and methodical bending of the long established lines in the west.

These are the movements which are still going on as the war enters its third, and according to Lord Kitchener's Delphic prediction, final year. Whether the Kaiser will reverse himself, again seize the initiative and enter on new campaigns of conquest cannot be foretold. One thing is certain, the two largest empires of the earth, Russia and Great Britain, are at last fully organized for war against him.

On the first anniversary of the war, August 1, 1915, the Austro-German sweep of Poland was in full swing. Lublin fell that day; Cholm August 2; Warsaw August 6; Danzig August 7; Sereck August 10; Lomz August 11; Siedles and Solowka August 14; Kovno August 19; Novo Georgievsk August 21; Gossowie August 24; Kovai August 27; Brest-Litovsk August 27; Olita August 28; Lutsk September 2; Brdce September 7; Grodno September 11; Dobna September 10; Pinsk September 17 and Vilna September 20.

It seemed to neutral observers nothing could stop the Teutons in the east and it was generally believed the invaders had themselves chosen the line extending from just west of Riga nearly straight south to the point on which they spent the winter.

Even when on September 8 the Czar took command of all his armies in person, won a victory near Tarnopol September 10, and recaptured Lutsk September 26 and recaptured October 20, few believed the Russians could reverse Lutsk and sweep back again and on October 27 the Germans stormed Tarnopol. Then things settled down for the line they were able to place more winter and almost every neutral critic thought the spring would see a resumption of the Teuton drive.

On October 8, the Teutons crossed the Serbian border at many points and five days later the Bulgarians, newcomers in the war, invaded from the east. Fighting desperately but hopelessly, the Serbians were pressed back by torrents of heavy shells to which they could not reply.

On November 29 the German General Staff was able proudly to announce that the operations against Serbia had ended in complete success. While Austria at the same time was finishing off Montenegro.

But unsuccessful as the year 1915 had been to the Allies in the field, their will to conquer did not waver. At the moment early in December when the German Imperial Chancellor was making a clear offer of peace in a speech to the Reichstag, the representatives of Germany's enemies were meeting in a new war council at Paris, resolved to redouble their herculean efforts and never compromise.

On December 21 David Lloyd-George, the strongest man in England, declared Great Britain faced defeat unless greater efforts were made; and just a week later he demanded general conscription, threatening to resign if this measure were not put into effect.

The conscription bill passed its first reading in the House of Commons January 6 and spring saw it in full force. Premier Asquith was able to announce that England's total effort was five million men.

Meanwhile in the east a greater giant was nursing his wounds and regaining his strength in four-fold degree.

A forewarning came to the world on February 17, when Erzrum was taken. On April 19 the great Black Sea port of Trebizond fell and two days later the first Russian contingent landed in France. Still the German writers would not believe and it took the magnificent Russian drive of June, which won all of Pskov and a large slice of Volhynia and Galicia to convince them that Russia was again a force to be reckoned with.

To understand this phenomenon or Russian resurrection it is necessary to realize not only that the Russians now have the heavy artillery and shells they lacked in the great retreat, but that their losses in numbers were not at all.

Seven million young men have come of military age in Russia since the war began and of these at least five million are fit for duty. Despite her gigantic losses it is quite possible there are more soldiers in potential soldiers in Russia today than when the war started. Certainly there are now and will be for years to come all the "cannon fodder" that can be utilized at the front.

Erroneously considering the western front the more dangerous, the German General Staff on February 21 began a heavy attack on the fortress of Verdun, with the object of using up French ammunition and men until no Allied offensive would be possible this year.

Being on the outside of a curved line they were able to place more guns and manoeuvre more freely than their opponents and month after month they drew closer to the now famous little city.

Whether their gains were victories or defeats will only be known after the war when we learn the number of killed and wounded they paid for each point. They advanced, but were never able to stampede the defenders.

Perhaps Verdun will be the last great German offensive. Certainly today the Teutons have their hands full stemming the Russian advance, which is penetrating Transylvania, and the Anglo-French pounding attacks along the Somme.

The Austrians, who in the latter half of May debouched from the Trentino and almost gained the foothills and smiling plains of Italy, are also content to stand and ward off the blows of the Italians, after giving up most of their gains.

The year saw the Germans lose their Cameroon colony in January, while columns of Belgians, French and British close in on the stout defenders of the East African colony, the last of the Kaiser's overseas possessions.

In Mesopotamia the British, penetrating to within seven miles of Bagdad, were defeated and forced to retreat, being finally besieged in Kut-el-Amara on December 10. A relieving expedition was unsuccessful and on April 30, the garrison capitulated.

On April 25, Sir Roger Casement was captured attempting to land from a German submarine on the Irish coast. The next day the Sinn Fein Society revolted, seized Dublin and set up a provisional republic. The rebellion was quelled in less than a week.

On June 3 the German and British fleets engaged in a great battle off Skagerrak. Although the Germans claimed a victory, they have not followed it up by coming out to deal another blow at the blockading vessels. The reports of losses by the two sides are impossible to harmonize.

People, to whom this sale will be a first visit, will be surprised to find out how well we live up to the letter of our agreement. No disappointments! Old patrons know it! CANNING FRUIT WITHOUT SUGAR

Washington, D. C., July 28.—Fruit for use in pie or salads or as stewed fruit can be put up or canned without the use of any sugar at all, according to the canning specialists of the department. They, therefore, advise those who, because of the high price of sugar, have been thinking of reducing the amount of fruit they put up, to can as much of their surplus as possible by the use of boiling water when sugar sirup is beyond their means. Any fruit, they say, may be successfully sterilized and retained in the pack by simply adding boiling water instead of the hot sirup. The use of sugar, of course, is desirable in the canning of all kinds of fruits and makes a better and ready sweetened product. Moreover, most of the fruits when canned in water alone do not retain their natural flavor, texture and color as well as fruit put up in sirup. Fruit canned without sugar to be used for sauces or desserts must be sweetened.

Directions For Canning Fruit Without Sirup.

Can the product the same day it is picked. Cull, stem, or seed, and clean the fruit by placing it in a strainer and pouring water over it until it is clean. Pack the product thoroughly in glass jars or tins cans until they are full; use the handle of a tablespoon, wooden ladle, or table knife for packing purposes. Pour over the fruit, boiling water from a kettle, place rubber caps in position, partially seal if using glass jars, seal completely if using tin cans. Place the containers in a sterilizing vat such as a wash boiler with false bottom, or other receptacle improvised for the purpose. If using a hot water bath outfit, process for 30 minutes; count time after the water has reached the boiling point; the water must cover the highest jar in container. After sterilizing remove packs, seal glass jars, wrap in paper to prevent bleaching and store in a dry, cool place.

If you are canning in tin cans it will improve the product to plunge the cans quickly into cold water immediately after sterilization. When using a steam pressure canner instead of the hot water bath, sterilize for 10 minutes with five pounds of steam pressure. Never allow the pressure to go over 10 pounds.

PASTOR STRONG WRITES.

Expects to Visit Kingston First Sunday in September.

Editor "Kingston Freeman," Kingston, N. Y.

Dear Sir—Perhaps your readers will be interested in the sequel to a communication of mine sent you some months ago regarding the evangelistic campaign then being inaugurated here. This series of meetings exceeded in influence and efficiency the fondest expectation of those co-operating. The whole place was stirred from center to circumference, and every church, Catholic as well as Protestant, was benefited by the services. Indeed, our Catholic friends were very kind in their attitude toward the campaign.

The church of which the writer is pastor was one of the largest beneficiaries from this evangelistic effort. I shall baptize my nineteenth candidate this evening, and several others are awaiting the ordinance while many have united with our church by letter, and upon experience. The aggregate result before the direct effects of the campaign are realized will be from 125 to 150 additions, while the indirect influence of the campaign will continue for months and years to come. One other church received about as many additions, and all the churches were proportionately benefited.

The fellowship of the churches in Plainfield is peculiarly harmonious and cordial, and extended work and enlarged activities are being planned and projected by the united and co-operating churches. It is my expectation to visit the Colonial City before I return from my vacation, which I begin next Monday morning, at that time leaving Plainfield for Vermont and taking five Sundays of absolute change and rest. I am hoping to be in Kingston the first Sunday in September. With every good wish for the publishers of The Freeman and for the readers thereof, I remain,

Most cordially yours,
PHILIP B. STRONG.

THEY GOT NO ANSWER.

Fire Commissioners Want to Know Chief's Authority.

Members of the board of fire commissioners are querying state officials as to the authority of the fire chief in dealing with abuses of safety regulations against danger from fire. When the law was passed that wiped out the state fire marshal's office most of the powers of that official were delegated to the fire chiefs and others were taken over by the state and industrial commission.

Recently the fire board took the matter up with the last named body but was unable to obtain any satisfactory information on the subject. The office of the secretary of state has since been queried and a reply is now awaited. It is said that the board is particularly anxious to ascertain the extent of its authority with respect to rules on the storage of gasoline and other inflammable liquids. Storage of gasoline especially has grown to considerable proportions in the various garages.

Mixing Paste.

When flour paste becomes watery upon cooling, it is evidence that the mixture has been boiled too long. Only the best flour should be used for making paste. Many paper hangers do not boil paste. They make a stiff batter with lukewarm water, stirring out all lumps, and then briskly stir in boiling water. When the mass thickens continue stirring, but add no more hot water. Pour a little cold water on top and set the paste away to cool.

Elephants Love For Finery.
Strange as it may seem, the elephant is passionately fond of finery and delights to see himself decked out with gorgeous trappings. The native princes of India are very particular in choosing their state elephants and will give fabulous sums for an animal that exactly meets the somewhat fanciful standards they have erected. For these they have made cloths of silk so heavily embroidered with gold that two men are hardly able to lift them. Freeman's Weekly.

Byron In an Ugly Mood.
I have not yet read Byron's "Conversations," but there was an anecdote in one of the extracts which confirms what I heard long since, but which I could not depend on before. He had an aversion to see women eat. Colonel — was at Byron's house in Piccadilly. Lady Byron in the room, and Macdonald was brought in—veal cutlets, etc. She began eating. Byron turned round in disgust and said, "Gorram eating beast!" and, taking up the tray, threw the whole luncheon into the hall. Lady Byron cried and left the room. Told by Haydon, the Painter.

FATAL ACCIDENT ON TROLLEY LINE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 28.—A fatal accident in which one man was killed and eight injured resulted today from the efforts of the Union Railway Company to run trolley cars in defiance of the strike which has crippled service in Westchester county and spread down to the Bronx section of New York city. A car manned by strike-breakers and guarded by policemen was derailed on Tremont Ave., and crashed into an L pillar near Boston Road.

B. Horn, a strike-breaker whose address is unknown, was the motorman on the car. He was crushed to death. The two policemen on the car were badly bruised and two of the other strike-breakers were taken to Fordham Hospital in a dying condition.

Just as the last injured man had been taken from the car's debris three other runaway trolley cars plunged into the wreckage. They had been stopped on a hill when Horn's car was derailed and in some manner the brakes were released permitting them to run downward. The police suspect strike sympathizers of having started the cars.

Anticipating fiercer rioting today than marked the struggle of yesterday, police officials sent additional men out on strike duty today. They were instructed to prevent any efforts to interfere with the cars that the company tried to run.

In the meantime union leaders held a conference at a down town hotel, discussing the advisability of calling out all union men in New York city. The radicals advocated this move immediately but the conservatives advised that the employees be better organized before they were ordered to strike.

Automobile Collision.

A collision between two automobiles caused a little excitement and less damage at Wall and John streets Thursday evening shortly after 7 o'clock and when the clash ended both machines were able to leave the scene under their own power. Miss Mildred B. Hildebrandt was driving the larger of the two cars, and its other occupants were Mrs. Zadoc P. Boice and Miss Delta R. Boice. The Paige was coming slowly out of John street to turn into Wall when the other car a Ford owned and driven by Harry Block of Brooklyn, came speeding along up Wall street and struck the larger car a glancing blow, shoving it diagonally across the street until the locked cars ended in front of the State of New York National bank building. The fender of the Paige was slightly bent but Miss Hildebrandt who retained her presence of mind to marked degree, started the engine which she had stopped during the smash and continued on. Mr. Block stopped to tinker with his car awhile after which the little old Ford rambled right along. His damages consisted of a burst tire and fractured mud-guard. No casualties were reported to occupants of either machine beyond temporarily quickened heart action.

TREVINO REFUSES TO BE REMOVED

By Telegram to The Freeman.
El Paso, Tex., July 28.—General Jacinto Trevino has again declined to yield the command of Chihuahua City and of the army of the north to First Chief Carranza. Instead he called a conference of officers loyal to him, and friends of the general, and they are planning a revolution having for its aim the control or consolidation of Chihuahua, Tamaulipas, Nuevo Leon, Durango and Coahuila as an independent republic. Recently the Mexican government notified Washington officially that General Trevino has been removed and that Central Luis Herrera was about to succeed him. General Trevino replied to this by telegraphing to the border that he did not intend to leave Chihuahua City. Carranza thereupon notified Washington that it was considered advisable to keep Trevino at Chihuahua for the present.

On top of this news came the report from the interior that Carranza commanders have held a conference with Trevino and planned to stand by him rather than the de facto government. This conference, it is said, explains the departure of General Francisco Gonzales from Juarez and the absence of General Elias P. Calles from Sonora.

The new legalista party, despite its internal difficulties, is said to be directing the turn of events. Defiance of the government is not new in Mexico. For two years Col. Cantu in Lower California has been running things blithely without Carranza's aid. Calles made a similar effort and quite a successful one. Once Carranza sent a "successor" to relieve Col. Cantu. The new-comer marched proudly in on Cantu and explained that he might turn over the government of Lower California. Cantu sent the man back to Mexico City. Since that time the colonel has been undisturbed.

The man who was sent to relieve Calles wisely awaited on the American side of the border to see how Calles felt about it. He soon learned, as Calles called on him in Douglas, Ariz., and the following conversation ensued:

"You are enjoying good health now, are you not?" asked Calles. "Si, Senor," replied the new man. "Then you had better hurry back to Mexico City," advised Calles. His advice was taken.

Along the border the military interest of the day was centered on the neighborhood of Terlingua and Ojinaga, where it has been reported that a band of 200 Mexican bandits are awaiting a chance to strike at the American side.

Col. Joseph A. Gaston, in command of this district, is awaiting the Mexican move with a detachment of the 6th Cavalry and the Tenth and Sixteenth Pennsylvania Infantry.

STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"That was some rain storm we had last night" said the friend to the street corner politician, after he had shaken hands and inquired as to the state of his constitution.

The politician agreed that it had been some storm and said "That reminds me that there has been an unusually heavy rain fall this season."

"Is that so?" queried the friend. "I was talking with a local plumber yesterday" the politician continued "and he told me that where the men in his employ have been digging ditches to lay pipe in they have found the ground moist and wet a distance of seven feet below the surface."

"You don't say" said the friend. "I asked him if that was usual" continued the politician "and he said no it was very unusual to find wet ground at such a depth at this time of year, and he said that unless the ground dried out before cold weather set in that he would not be surprised to find the plumbers kept busy day and night thawing out water and other pipes."

"How does he figure that out?" asked the friend. "Well you see when the ground is hard and dry the frost does not sink very far below the surface, but when the ground is wet and damp to an extent of seven feet below the surface it means that the frost will sink down into the ground just that depth freezing everything solid. That would mean that all pipes laid under the ground that distance or less would suffer greatly."

"Well it would seem to me that moist ground to that depth must also be hard on the crops" said the friend. "I would not be surprised if it affected the potato crop" replied the politician. He continued "With a fall of rain every so often it has not given the ground a chance to dry out, and there is but one relief from the calamity foretold by the plumber."

"What is that?" asked the friend with interest. "Let old Mr. Sun get back on the job for several weeks with no interruption from Mr. Rain, and we will be all right" replied the politician. He continued "Well anyway it's to hot to worry about what may happen a few months hence."

Considering all of the prison reforms contemplated, or suggested, it would seem the best policy to demolish all prisons as they are only relics of a bygone age, writes Constant Reader.

When we read printed interviews with men and women who say they cannot possibly exist on a yearly income of less than $3,000 a year we often wonder if they were not brought up in a home where the weekly income did not exceed $10 a week, but were somewhat more fortunate than their parents when they struck out for themselves in the business of life.

After a careful review of what the present short skirt fashion has revealed we must say that we have been greatly disappointed, as we were always of the impression that bow legs were confined exclusively to the male sex.

"I thought you said that Bliz and his wife were reunited again" said the friend to the politician. "No von misunderstood me" replied the politician "I said that Bliz's wife was made up"

GUARD STATUS OUTLINED.
Gen. Sharpe Denies Men Must Pay Way Back Home.
By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, July 28.—The status of the National Guard under the numerous changes in the law in regard to organization is causing many inquiries as to pay, transportation, and travel allowances. One impression is that when members of the National Guard avail themselves of the right to be honorably discharged because they have dependent families they will not receive transportation back to their homes, but will be obliged to pay their way out of their own pockets.

General Henry G. Sharpe, Acting Quartermaster General of the army, denied this.

"The National Guardsmen in this matter," said General Sharpe, "is on precisely the same footing as the regular. The law provides that the soldier who is taken back to the place where he enlisted, and this will be done for the National Guardsmen just as it is for the enlisted men in the regular army. He will receive 3 1/2 cents a mile for transportation and the regular travel allowance for subsistence while on the journey home."

An order just issued by the War Department holds that soldier of the militia who has left behind him dependents and who fails to avail himself of the privilege of applying for his discharge may be dismissed from the army if he is unwilling to set aside some of his pay for the care of those dependent upon him.

DELICIOUS HOME PRODUCTS IN Lay's Saturday Sale

Homekeepers and others are buying less meat now than they did in former years, for which they should not be criticized. The exorbitant prices of wholesalers make meat a luxury rather than an article of nourishment. And if "less meat" is to be the rule why not have the best? The kind we eat up makes the housewife tingle with anticipation of the sumptuous manner in which she can adorn her table for Sunday's dinner. For breakfast or luncheon, our home-made Wienerwurst, Frankfurters and Bologna have no superior. They are served in many of Kingston's best and most aristocratic homes, for their flavor is delicious, they are made of wholesome ingredients, and cleanliness is the watchword in their production.

Practice Food Economy at Planthaber's Saturday

It has been wisely said that this is an era of economy—that waste and wickedness now-a-days go hand-in-hand. The wise housekeeper cuts out folly, eliminates extravagance, takes up the economic slack and buys groceries, provisions and meats at this market of high qualities and moderate prices. We help to overcome everything which adds to expense and the difficulties of existence, meeting it with strenuous opposition and undisturbed market service, meeting it with strenuous opposition and undisturbed market service, meeting it with strenuous opposition and undisturbed market service.

TENTH GOING TO PEEKSKILL

From present indications it is likely that the Tenth Regiment will hike to Peekskill next week as Thursday afternoon General Appleton called on Colonel Klein at Camp Whitman, and informed him that he might take his regiment there for three or four days' practice at the rifle range. Just where the Tenth will go from Peekskill is not known, but it is likely that that boys will go to Van Cortland Park, New York city.

After the conference between the two officers Colonel Klein said the Tenth would probably start for Peekskill Tuesday or Wednesday. It will make three bivouacs on the way at the same points the First Infantry stopped this week. This would bring the Tenth into Peekskill the latter part of next week. Colonel Klein has informed Deputy Sheriff Barton he would hold him responsible for any illegal sale of intoxicants at the Stornville hotel. He ordered that the hotel must not sell to any soldier in uniform any beer or liquor to be taken off the premises. After the men of the Tenth were paid off the guard was doubled to keep the men in camp, and only 40 out of over 1,400 men were under arrest in the guard tent the second night after the men received their pay. This allays the rumors of disorder which have prevailed.

SERGT. J. J. KENNEL

POLICEMAN INVOLVED IN N. Y. WIRE-TAPPING CASE, SHOTS HIMSELF.

New York, July 28.—Detective John J. Kennel, one of the police "wire-tappers," attempted suicide by shooting himself. The bullet from his service revolver passed under his heart and punctured the left lung. Kennel, who is one of the oldest detectives on the force shot himself shortly before he was to be tested as to his ability to take telephone conversations accurately. A preliminary test at the wire-tapping investigation had not put Kennel's ability in a favorable light.

According to Detective Sergis Watson and Degillio, who were in the wire-tapping room with Kennel upon the morning of the attempted suicide, Kennel had been working with them about thirty minutes when he suddenly jumped to his feet, waved his hands about his head and shouted to the two officers:

"Oh, the failure of this thing to go through! If it doesn't, it will drive me mad! Just look at what it means to me!"

A moment later Kennel went behind a partition and shot himself. Kennel was due to appear the next day at the John Doe investigation and under the "wire tapping test." He was to listen in on the wires from the justice's room while two attorneys for the defense carried on a conversation over a telephone in the courtroom.

This was evidently on his mind and the thought of a second failure plainly had made the detective very gloomy.

According to a high official of the police department Kennel's act will be likely to put an end to the wire-tapping activities of the police department.

Anecdotes of Richter.

Mme. X. was singing at a rehearsal and was decidedly out of tune. Dr. Richter stood it as long as he could, then turned to her. "Madame," he said, "will you kindly give the orchestra your A?"

At another rehearsal one of the instrumentalists made a mistake. "No," said Dr. Richter, "it does so charmingly—rum-tum-tarum!" The same player made another mistake. "No, no—rum-tum-tarum!" At the third mistake Dr. Richter momentarily lost patience and cried, "Why do you make so many mistakes, Mr. —?" Then quickly recovering his habitual good humor, "Ah, I know why it is—you like to hear me sing!"—Man-hester Guardian.

Why He Was on Time.

Remonger was one day complimented by a lady on the punctuality with which he kept his engagements. "It is a pleasure," said she, "to invite you to dinner, for you never make us wait."

"I am so longer young, madam," replied the poet, "and experience has taught me one thing—it is dangerous not to arrive at the precise hour, for the guests who are waiting for you will pass the time in discussing your faults."

ART EXHIBIT AT THE MAVERICK

The exhibition of paintings of July 22 at the Maverick, near Woodstock, is held over, being a joint show with paintings by Eugene Speicher, John Bates, Andrew Dasburg, Paul Rohland, L. Mac Fee, John F. Grimm.

This exhibition is one that would attract attention in any of the New York galleries. Mr. Mac Fee's three flower studies are in a new manner, a result of his past impressionistic work, and show as well an exquisite beauty that is easily appreciated by the uninitiated layman.

Andrew Dasburg shows the drawing that brought so much praise for him in last winter's Forum show and was purchased by Mr. Speicher. John Grimm has a portrait and a still life, both strong, clear and virile in treatment.

John Bates has three canvases, two of marked individuality, and Paul Rohland has an imaginative treatment of a landscape that will incite both admiration and criticism. The program for the Maverick concert Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock is as follows:

- Charles Cooper, piano.
- Edward Kreiner, first violin.
- Guillermo Gastelli, second violin.
- Rudolph Bauerkeller, viola.
- Engelbert Roentgen, cello.
- Sonata, Piano and Cello, Op. 33 F major
- allegro vivace
- allegro affettuoso
- allegro passionato
- allegro molto
- String Quartet Op. 77 No. 1. Haydn (two movements repeated)
- adagio
- menutetto
- String Quartet—Molly on the Shore, Percy Grainger
- Dumky Piano Trio, Dvorak (repeated by request)
- lento maestoso
- andante
- andante moderato
- allegro
- lento maestoso

MECKE'S DAILY SPORTING LETTER

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, July 28.—Fred Weenck's plan to bring about decision bouts in the Empire State has struck a responsive chord in the bosoms of the majority of the fight fans. The public, bunched so long and so often by the no-decision fights, yearns for the day that will bring decision bouts; the time when fighters really will fight again.

Some few persons are opposing the radical reform which the chairman of the boxing commission wants to bring about. But an analysis of the protests shows that the bulk of them come from managers of fighters, who, naturally, would suffer a decrease in revenue if decisions were permitted.

"The fight game has come upon evil days since no-decision bouts have been the rule," declares Weenck. "Champions and near-champions have made a farce of fighting in New York state during the past few years by their stalling tactics. Boxing bouts have degenerated into little more than bugging matches.

"This is due almost entirely to the fact that no-decisions are rendered. In New York state now a champion cannot be dethroned unless by a knockout, a trick rather than of accomplishment in ten rounds. No matter how much an aspirant for the crown outpoints the champion, he cannot win the title except with a sleep producing punch. Therefore, a champion rarely, if ever, fights on the offensive. His sole thought during the ten rounds is to save himself from a knockout.

Decisions Would Reform Game.

"But if decisions were permitted all would be changed. The champion would have to fight or lose his title. He wouldn't do any stalling then. He'd put forth the best that is in him and give the fans a run for their money.

"Ever since the no-decision rule has been in force the public, when makes big purses possible for fighters, has been cheated. It pays to see two men fight and usually only one of them does the work. The other—the champion or top-notch—doesn't risk a knockout punch. He keeps covering up all the time. What if he is beaten on points? That doesn't harm him much because he is protected from official defeat by the no-decision rule.

"I am not making decisions in this state solely for the purpose of making fighters earn every dollar they get; with the idea of giving the fans 100 cents' value for every dollar they pay at the gate. And I am going on with my fight for decision bouts to the absolute limit.

"Some of those persons who oppose me are making the absurd and malicious charge that decision bouts will kill the game. They hint that gamblers would reap a harvest by tampering with the referees and influencing them—with money—to 'throw' fights.

"Those who make such charges indeed as crooked every man that is refereeing in New York state today. Such an indictment is a contemptible insult to the referees. Charlie White, Billy Roche, Bill Joh and the others have been refereeing fights in New York state for many years. No sounder ever has come on their records; they are as honest and square as any man living. No one could 'buy' their decision, yet the blanket indictment seems to cover them; these honest men are branded as probable crooks.

Most Foes are Managers.

"The majority of those who are fighting my plan are managers of fighters. No one has noticed the fans opposing me. They are with me. They know, as I do, what deplorable conditions have been brought about by no-decision bouts. They remember vividly the scores of times they have paid big prices to see a fight and then have been treated to joke contests.

"Why shouldn't some of the managers oppose me? Decision fights would end the soft picking for some of them. Those who are handling fighters who are like champions are loudest in their protests. Why? Simply because their men, if forced to fight decision battles, undoubtedly would be outpointed and thus lose the title. That would mean smaller purses for those fighters in the future, and of course, smaller 'spills' for the managers.

"The fight game has fallen into a decay during the past few years. The men no longer battle as they used to. They get three or four times the money that the old time did, but in return for it they do ten rounds of fancy dancing, alternating with the latest approved huc. And the public is bugged into paying big money for it.

"But if decisions are permitted by licensed referees of unquestioned honesty the fight game will come back; fighters will fight again and earn their money and the New York public will cease to be the goat, as it has been for so, these many years."

LAKE MOHONK BARS CHILDREN

July 28, 1916.

To the Editor of The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

Sir: In order to protect our neighbors and your readers from unnecessary inconvenience, we shall greatly value your cooperation in the form of whatever publicity you may give to the following precautions against the spread of infantile paralysis.

For some time past, we have not been accepting as guests children of sixteen years or younger from New York city or Brooklyn, unless they have been continuously absent from those cities for two weeks, and do not pass through either city on their way to Mohonk.

The spreading of the disease to nearby regions now makes it necessary to decline to receive as day visitors any children sixteen years of age or younger. Until further notice, without special permission of the management, no such children will be permitted to enter any part of the Lake Mohonk estate.

Much as we regret to deprive any of our friends of an outing at Mohonk, we feel sure all will agree that the restriction is solely in the public interest.

Respectfully,
Lake Mohonk Mountain House,
A. K. SMILEY,
Manager

Hot Liners.

(By Frank G. Menke.)

Benny Kauff demonstrated that there's no sentiment in business, when he connected with the ball in the eleventh and sent Herzog over with the winning run. Matty still has hopes.

Although well groomed by the Browns, the Athletics failed to win yesterday.

The Cubs and Braves have become strong advocates of the movement to set the clock back an hour as the result of their tie game being called in the 11th on account of darkness.

Rube Oldring used his bat to prop up the shaky corner of the Yanks first position yesterday when he slammed the ball for a homer in the ninth inning with the bases full. Some prop?

Evidently Empire O'Longhin is not very strong for that "muscle bath" charges to "sooth the savage breast" stuff. He stopped yesterday's game 15 minutes until the band finished playing.

Ever three in a row from the Nationals doesn't look very consoling to the Tigers in their present position.

to adjust and mark down its entire $82,500 stock of summer merchandise for the Final Sale which begins THURSDAY MORNING, AUGUST 3d, at 9:30 o'clock.

Despite the high market prices on all merchandise we are compelled to close out our enormous stock during the month of August. We give three reasons:

First—Our iron-clad rule is not to carry over one dollar's worth from one season to another, irrespective of the cost. You all know this.

Second—The next important reason is the frequent change of styles, which makes it imperative for us to dispose of spring and summer stock, irrespective of the great losses we sustain.

Third—We want our patrons who have been regular customers to realize that during this Final Sale they get something worth while as an appreciation of the patronage in the past.

Past records during our final sales corroborate every statement we make above.

The Sale Starts Thursday, August 3d, at 9:30. Watch for our big advertisement and also our windows.
